EXPERT IN HOSPITALITY SUPPLIES

Have you already browsed the catalogue before reading this text? As founder and CEO of the Katza Group, I am proud of this new catalogue, with its colour chart. This catalogue is the essence of twenty years of hard work.

Since its creation in 1999, not only the range of catering supplies (leather), but also the possibilities of personalization and colours have been considerably extended. The creation of Aartefacto and Pavelinni, two other brands, each offering products related to catering, contributes to its success.

Pavelinni

Continuing its search for innovations in the hospitality sector, a second brand was created. Under the name of Pavelinni, the dining tables received a powerful aesthetic boost with placemats, table runners and accompanying accessories.

With special focus on ecology and economy. Customizable with high quality embroidery and available in a wide range of colours. Add to this the high quality of the eco-leather and the minimal maintenance costs.

Proper workshops

All Aartefacto and Pavelinni products are created and developed in our proper workshops. Our high standards in quality are closely monitored. Various quality controls must guarantee a perfectly adapted product. These values and standards are considered very important!

New catalogue

With this new catalogue, you get an overview of all catering supplies offered by the Katza Group. The convenient colour chart gives you the option of choosing the colour of your table runner or placemat.

In our online store and with various catering wholesalers, you can purchase all catering supplies from the Katza Group.

We wish to thank you for the confidence given the Katza Group, Pavelinni

Pavelinni offers the possibility to personalize every purchased

*“Berlin is a city that lives

Very attractive for cooks.”*

AXEL COLONNA-CESARI - CENTPOURCENT

aprons that connect the world

BERLIN

The aprons are very qualitative, beautiful, classy and fit Centpourcent perfectly. Minimalist design with an eye for detail. In addition, it is a light apron that does not put pressure on the neck. This is important to me - and many other chefs. Put ten aprons next to each other and I would have taken this one out.

An apron is part of ourselves. The choice of my uniform, which includes an apron in addition to a chef's jacket, is very important. Many chefs nowadays work in an open kitchen. People see us at work. It is important that we look neat and tidy in line with the restaurant.

Centpourcent is a gourmet restaurant in Sint-Katelijne-Waver. In the opening year in 2011 they immediately achieved a Michelin star. Strong man is chefkok Axel Colonna-Cesari, who runs the restaurant together with his wife Anneleen Soethaert.

“Barcelona is a place where I feel at ease. It’s where I find my true self culinarily speaking.”

JO GROOTAERS - ALTERMEZZO

aprons that connect the world

BARCELONA

The way Jo Grootaers from Altermezzo handles the attention and his people also applies to his kitchen. "My cooking style is very no-nonsense. What you see is what you get. No hidden techniques. Everything is pure. In the kitchen we do not concern ourselves with matters that we should not concern ourselves with. I think that's important."

The kitchen is his territory, but the chef is also interested and involved in all the other aspects of working in a star restaurant. Like the way the floor staff is dressed. "A beautiful apron contributes to the look of the business. If I have to meet guests at their table, I also want to look decent. That is part of the gourmet experience. It has to look right from every angle. People have to be like: 'My goodness, they all look so elegant.' They have to be able to see that we have an eye for every detail. I am very satisfied with the end result of my apron. Very beautiful, sleek and modern. It is not a traditional floor apron and it fits perfectly with the interior of Altermezzo."

“ In San Sebastian the juxtaposition between the ‘regular’ kitchen in the old part of the city and the star level in the new part of the city appeals to me. ”

JAN MENTEN - DE MIJLPAAL

aprons that connect the world

SAN SEBASTIAN

Jan Menten from De Mijlpaal only works with top-quality products. "Price is not important. We have a real product kitchen. Product and flavour are very important. That's how I am building our kitchen. And good sauces, those are my forte. Fantasies rank third for me."

"I think our San Sebastian apron line is very rejuvenating and the colours match the restaurant.

A catering business where staff wear nice aprons, usually also serves good food. It sends a signal.

A beautiful apron immediately evokes a positive image and also shows that the people pay attention to much more than just the food."

“In Copenhagen, there is this incredible professionalism in the hospitality industry. Anyone working on the floor could work in the kitchen and vice versa.”

DIMITRY LYSENS - MAGIS

aprons that connect the world

KOPENHAGEN

For Dimitry Lysens from Magis, gourmet eating is just about the plate: good food and good wines. “Obviously, something spectacular should be happening on my plate, but it shouldn’t be too complicated. Simplicity makes dishes sing. That is art. My kitchen is about returning to the basics as much as possible, but I always have to meet a certain expectation pattern. Flanders doesn’t have room for extremes.”

“Everything starts with kindness. From the first moment that people come in, this has to be radiated. This is where Pavelinni’s catering aprons help to bring about the right atmosphere. Aprons also help to better explain the idea and concept of the restaurant. In addition, the aprons must match the interior and the meals. If this has been thought through well, it makes people more comfortable”, concludes Dimitry.
