THE ANCIENT ART OF HAND ENGRAVING

Few people understand the skills and attention to detail involved in the traditional craft of hand engraving. It is a diverse craft with a long history that is intrinsically entwined with human culture. Historically hand engraving has been used in both practical and decorative applications.

Most of our designs are inspired by Nature, but also with a special feeling and emotion of the particular artists creating them. We want our pieces to be something more than just a beautiful. We want to give them a meaning and a purpose that the user can feel, relate to and embrace.

EACH PIECE IS INDIVIDUALLY MADE AND DECORATED

To create something exceptional, our mindset must be relentlessly focused on the smallest detail.

WIXARIKAS

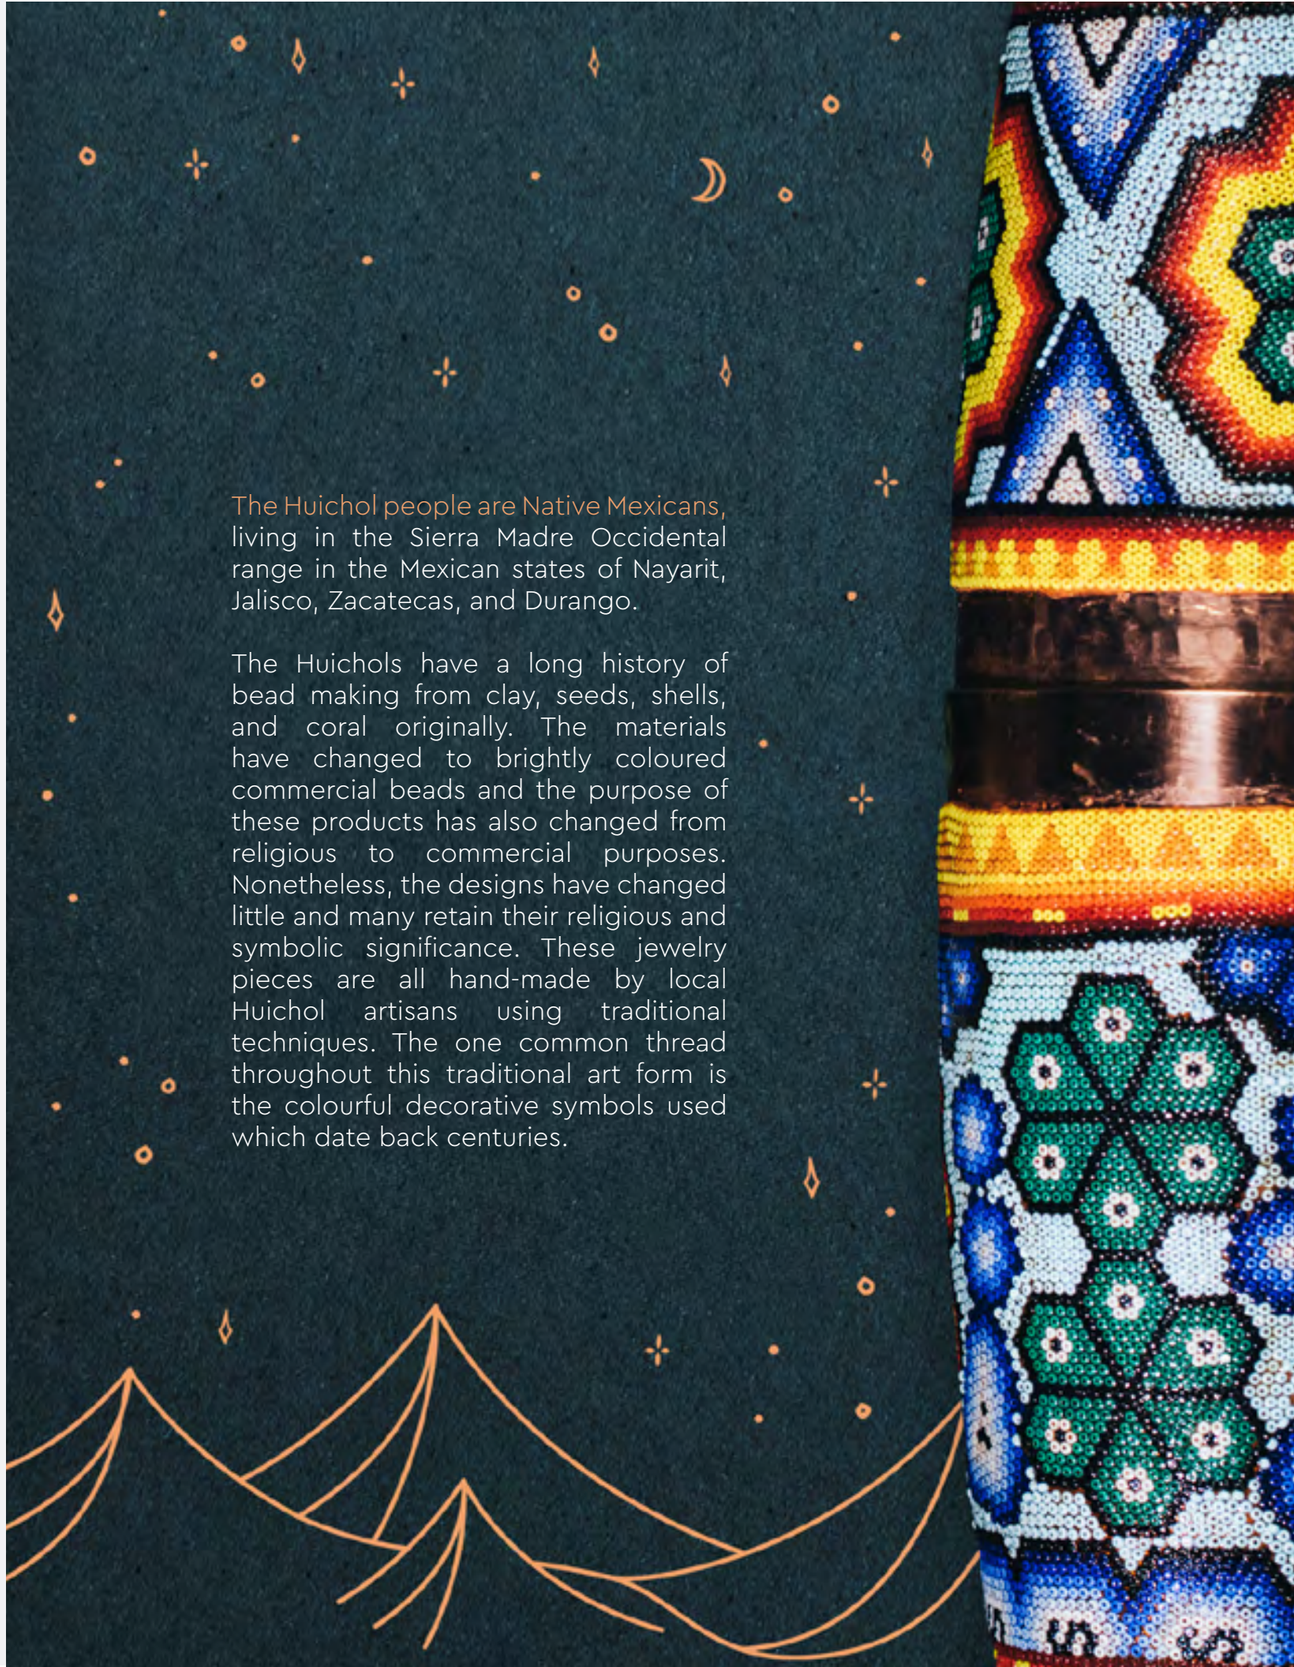
WIXARIKAS COLLECTION

The collection #Wixarikas it's inspired by our experience with Wixarikas People in Sierra Madre Mountains. Wixarika connection to nature and spirituality its big part of out inspiration. Each Piece it's unique and only one ever made. Each symbol and color has a meaning which will speak to if it's meant for you. Each piece take up to 7 days of concentration and work to finish.

The Wixarika people live in a remote region of the Sierra Madre mountain range. Their rugged environment has allowed them to preserve their traditional lifestyle for hundreds of years. Their connection to the spiritual world is something inherent to life itself, as it is the way of coexisting in harmony with nature and all of creation. Today, the Wixarika way of life continues much as it has for thousands of years. Still without electricity or running water, the Wixarika people rely on their relationship with nature to sustain their communities.

The Wixarika people of Mexico has practiced its sacred healing traditions for millennia.



The Huichol people are Native Mexicans, living in the Sierra Madre Occidental range in the Mexican states of Nayarit, Jalisco, Zacatecas, and Durango.

The Huichols have a long history of bead making from clay, seeds, shells, and coral originally. The materials have changed to brightly coloured commercial beads and the purpose of these products has also changed from religious to commercial purposes. Nonetheless, the designs have changed little and many retain their religious and symbolic significance. These jewelry pieces are all hand-made by local Huichol artisans using traditional techniques. The one common thread throughout this traditional art form is the colourful decorative symbols used which date back centuries.
