To the table

Comfort and use are at the heart of the design process at Robert Welch, when creating pieces or designs to complement any table setting. Each piece of cutlery is rigorously tested – the weight, shape, style and finish all combining to enhance the overall dining experience.

Each range has its own look and feel and finding the most suitable design requires as much consideration as the menus themselves.

Just as each piece possesses a timeless appeal, care has been taken to create strong and durable products that can withstand the demands of a busy hospitality environment.

Robert Welch
Armscote Bead is a classic design embellished with a decorative beaded accent which complements its neatly rounded profile (turn to page 50).

Our story

ICONIC BRITISH DESIGN WITH GLOBAL REACH

Since 1955 our family-owned company has been at the forefront of creating products that combine elegance with functionality.

Founder Robert Welch set up his workshop in the Cotswold market town of Chipping Campden. Inspired by his visits to Scandinavia, he chose to focus on stainless steel, a material he foresaw as the future of design. His most significant designs are housed in collections around the world from the V&A in London to the Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) in New York. Our team of designers still work from the 18th-century silk mill.

Today, our timeless products – from cutlery to holloware – grace spectacular venues worldwide, including prestigious hotels, international airlines, and cruise ships.

Robert's son Rupert and daughter Alice continue to create iconic and award-winning designs shaped by their father's vision.
